WISCONSIN IAP CANDIDATE TO MAKE CONGRESSIONAL HISTORY

Wisconsin's Independent Candidate Samantha Carter will make history in the U.S. Congress if elected to serve as district 4 house representative. Samantha at the time of traditional inauguration will be 27 and 2 months making her the youngest woman to ever be elected to congress. The current youngest woman to be elected to congress is Mrs. Elizabeth Holtzman elected at the age of 31 and 7 months to the House of Representatives.

Samantha at the age of 25 began her campaign for the House of Representatives Wisconsin District 4 backed personally by the executive committee of the Independent American Party.
