MILWAUKEE, Wisc. (Oct. 23, 2017)— The American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network is hosting the Milwaukee Cancer Research Breakfast, Access Determines Outcomes.

Reducing the cancer burden depends on access to meaningful health coverage for all Americans, including coverage for cancer screening and the latest treatment. This event will delve into the research and evidence-based connection between access to care and cancer outcomes in Milwaukee while exploring the current state of access to health care in this county, especially for minority communities. There is no charge to attend the event.
