

Evidenced-Based Health Policy Project briefing on falls among older adults

Posted on Wednesday, Sep 6, 2017

State Capitol, Room 411-S,
2 E. Main St.,
Madison, WI 53703.

Preventing Falls Among Older Adults: What's New and Emerging at UW? An EBHPP Research Roundtable

Click Here to Register!

Falls among older adults pose a serious health problem both nationally and here in Wisconsin, with the state ranking second nationally in fall-related death rates. Join the EBHPP for a Capitol Briefing on work conducted across multiple disciplines at UW-Madison to address this issue.

Featuring information and community partner perspectives from:

Jane Mahoney

UW-Madison School of Medicine and Public Health
Stepping On, an evidence-based falls prevention program

David Mott

UW-Madison School of Pharmacy
Community pharmacist role in the prescription of fall-risk increasing drugs

Barb King

UW-Madison School of Nursing
Nurse-led interventions to maintain mobility in the hospital setting

Contact

Sam Austin

Evidence-Based Health Policy Project – UW-Madison Population Health Institute

6082654851

svaustin@wisc.edu