State Representative Scott Allen has released a video calling for better cell tower regulation.

The demand for data and reliability means that cell companies need more cell towers. While almost everyone is using a cell phone these days, not everyone likes the prospect of their neighbor putting a 200-foot cell tower in their back yard.

AB 130, introduced by Rep. Allen, would be a reasonable adjustment to current law, and allow local governments to restrict cell tower placement a certain distance from property lines.
