Madison – State Representative Dan Knodl (R-Germantown) issued the following statement following Governor Walker's 2017-19 Budget Address Wednesday afternoon:

“When I talk to businesses and individuals in the district about the issues they are most concerned about, I often hear the same thing: lowering taxes, creating good-paying jobs, and making sure we have great schools preparing students for the workforce. Today, Governor Walker laid out budget proposals that will help our state continue moving forward in all three of these areas.

“These budget proposals are a good starting point. I look forward to working through the budget process with the Governor and my colleagues in the Legislature to continue reducing the tax burden, helping businesses grow, and providing Wisconsin students with the best education possible.”
