Madison... Today the Wisconsin State Assembly passed A Resolution to recognize the National Day of Prayer authored by Representative John Macco (R-Ledgeview) and Senator Chris Kapenga (R-Delafield):

“In these turbulent and trying times, regardless of faith background it is important to recognize our place in this world” said Rep. Macco.

Representative Macco has been involved in many faith based organizations throughout the Green Bay Area and is a former deacon at a local church.

“I meet each week with a Capitol prayer group comprised of Republicans and Democrats. We remind ourselves our place in this world and reflect on the importance of our role “continued Rep. Macco, “As legislators it is essential to remind ourselves to pray and submit ourselves to guidance from a higher power.”
