[Madison, WI]—Wisconsin Democrats start their convention with a dark cloud hanging above their heads, as they face a struggle for the future of their party after historic losses in 2016. While the 2017 Republican Party of Wisconsin State Convention saw Republicans united and organizing for 2018, Democrats will spend the weekend locked in a battle over which way to move forward.

“Wisconsin Democrats are in disarray, with no agenda for hard-working Wisconsin families,” said Alec Zimmerman, spokesman for the Republican Party of Wisconsin. “With no serious candidates willing to take on Wisconsin’s comeback, Senator Tammy Baldwin deeply vulnerable after protecting the Washington status quo, and a contested chair battle ahead, all Wisconsin Democrats have left is a doomed agenda that looks to take us back to the failed policies of yesterday.”
