[Madison, WI]—Earlier this week the Washington Free Beacon uncovered that the same high-powered scandal attorney that Tammy Baldwin hired to cover up her failures at the Tomah VA is now behind a dark money group in Wisconsin running ads to prop up her record. After she rushed to defend of the Washington status quo over Wisconsin's veterans, it's clear that liberal special interests in Washington are quick to help their friend, Senator Tammy Baldwin.

Check out what they're saying about the newest twist in Senator Tammy Baldwin's Tomah VA scandal:

From the Washington Free Beacon: "A lawyer brought in to do crisis control for Sen. Tammy Baldwin (D., Wis.) incorporated a dark money nonprofit group that is now defending the senator's record over the Tomah VA scandal in the state, records show."

From the Dan O'Donnell Show: "It was using veterans to defend Tammy Baldwin from, the truth really, that she got an inspectors general memo at the Tomah VA. She was the only legislator in the state who had seen this memo..."

From the Jay Weber Show: "This is a woman who is terrified of this issue, and of this scandal and she should be because her actions here were disgraceful. She should not be representing Wisconsin for one more year than necessary. Her term is up next year.”

From the Jerry Bader Show: “Tammy Baldwin is continuing a tradition started by her predecessor Senator Kohl; get elected, go away for six years, and come back to seek reelection with no record and no accomplishments.”
