

Ryan has biggest warchest among Wis. delegation, Kind ranks second

Posted on Wednesday, Jul 19, 2017

House Speaker Paul Ryan has a far bigger warchest than his fellow Wisconsin House members, with U.S. Rep. Ron Kind a distant second.

Ryan reported his re-election campaign had $3.4 million in receipts between April 1 and June 30, $1.7 million in disbursements and $11.15 million cash on hand, according to his report posted at the FEC site. Ryan for Congress is one piece of the speaker's fundraising operation, which is dubbed Team Ryan.

Kind, D-La Crosse, reported $235,226 raised, $106,725 in expenses and $2.6 million cash on hand.

The rest of the delegation reported:

*U.S. Rep. Pocan, D-Town of Vermont, $157,374 in receipts, $94,981 in expenses, $500,284 cash on hand.

*U.S. Rep. Gwen Moore, D-Milwaukee, $159,931 in receipts, $118,291 in expenses, $81,775 cash on hand.

*U.S. Rep. Jim Sensenbrenner, R-Menomonee Falls, $46,618 in receipts, $21,288 in disbursements, $479,273 cash on hand.

*U.S. Rep. Glenn Grothman, R-Glenbeulah, $196,373 in receipts, $115,537 in disbursements, $414,327 cash on hand with $130,160 in debts.

*U.S. Rep. Sean Duffy, R-Wausau, $652,995 in receipts, $316,908 in disbursements, $1.7 million cash on hand.

*U.S. Rep. Mike Gallagher, R-Green Bay, $327,741 in receipts, $143,906 in expenses, $505,199 cash on hand.