

Walker to formally launch re-election bid Nov. 5

Posted on Thursday, Oct 19, 2017

Gov. Scott Walker will formally announce his re-election bid Nov. 5 in Waukesha with more than a dozen stops around the state in the days to follow, his campaign said today.

The formal kick off will be at Weldall Manufacturing Inc., a welding and fabrication company that Vice President Mike Pence visited last month.

The campaign did not release details of the other stops that week, though one in Janesville Nov. 7 has been posted at eventbrite.com.

Today's announcement comes on the heels of several steps Walker has taken in recent weeks to cue up his re-election bid. That includes the release a 60-second digital ad this week.

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

"Our bold reforms have delivered results for Wisconsin's hard-working families, from lower taxes to record investment in our classrooms — but there's more to be done," Walker said. "I'm ready to continue the fight and keep Wisconsin moving forward."