

Wisconsin Institute for Law & Liberty: Wisconsin's largest legal and policy center continues to grow

Posted on Monday, Aug 28, 2017

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

Contact: Cameron Sholty, WILL Communications Director
414-727-7416 | 262-409-9816

cameron@will-law.org

Milwaukee, Wisconsin – The Wisconsin Institute for Law & Liberty has hired Natalie Goodnow, recent graduate of the Harvard Kennedy School and formerly at the American Enterprise Institute, as a Research Fellow to expand its public policy research capabilities. Natalie will join WILL's policy team working on its portfolio of research including K12 education reform, economic freedom, and federalism.

Originally from Minnesota, Natalie graduated in May, 2017 from Harvard Kennedy School with a Master's Degree in Public Policy. While at the Kennedy School, she served as a managing editor for the Kennedy School Review. Her academic focus was on social policy and she specializes in issues of child welfare, family strengthening, and poverty.

Previously Natalie worked for the American Enterprise Institute (AEI), and was a fellow at Lutheran Services in America. She completed her undergraduate work at Princeton University, graduating cum laude with a bachelor's degree in classics. Rick Esenberg, president and general counsel at WILL, welcomed Natalie, "We are very happy to have someone with Natalie's unique background and experience to help us as we continue to grow. She brings strong research and writing capabilities that will enable WILL to continue to produce and release original, timely, and issue-based studies that inform Wisconsin's pressing public policy debates."

Natalie Goodnow noted, "I'm very excited to be in Milwaukee and working with the team at WILL. Their work, attorneys, and experts are nationally recognized and being able to contribute in the way WILL does is a tremendous opportunity.”

In her spare time she enjoys playing piano, writing, and cooking for her food blog.
She can be contacted via email at Natalie@will-law.org.

About Wisconsin Institute for Law & Liberty: The Wisconsin Institute for Law & Liberty is a 501(c)3 legal and public policy research organization in Milwaukee. Started in 2011, WILL has issued dozens of reports and pursues litigation focused on education reform and economic liberty and free markets. Its attorneys, researchers, litigation, and reports have been featured in such publications as The Wall Street Journal, the Washington Examiner, National Review, and the Weekly Standard, and its staff regularly appear on local and national TV and radio programs.

###