Baldwin and Fellow Democrats Offering More Political Games Instead of Real Reforms

[Madison, WI]— Led by Speaker Paul Ryan, Republicans in the house today took a critical step toward fulfilling their campaign promise to repeal and replace Obamacare, reforming the healthcare system for hard-working Wisconsin families. Meanwhile, Senator Tammy Baldwin has offered no solutions and continues to play political games instead of fighting for reforms. The Republican Party of Wisconsin released the following statement:

“While Republicans are taking steps to reform our healthcare system for Wisconsin’s hard-working families and small businesses, Democrats like Senator Tammy Baldwin continue to play political games and cling to the complete disaster that is Obamacare,” said Mark Morgan, Executive Director for the Republican Party of Wisconsin. “After nearly 20 years in Washington, all Senator Baldwin has left is to embrace the same failed policies of yesterday that she helped enact, while Republicans are fighting for reform.”
