Cable WI – Yesterday, Husky Energy announced their plan to rebuild the Superior Refinery. In response, 25th Senate District Candidate James Bolen released the following statement:

“It’s great news for Northwestern Wisconsin. The Husky Energy refinery is an economic driver in this part of the state. Not only does it provide family supporting jobs but locally sourced materials such as asphalt to improve our infrastructure and LP to heat our homes.”

“The rebuilding process also brings an exciting opportunity – growth. I encourage Husky Refining to expand their Superior facility.”

“Wisconsin’s economy is thriving making it the opportune time for the company to further develop the refinery. As one of the largest employers in Superior, they can help us build a stronger North.”

James Bolen, a candidate for Wisconsin’s 25th Senate District has served as Executive Director of the Cable Area Chamber of Commerce for the past twelve years and on the Bayfield County Economic Development Corporation board of directors since 2011. James currently resides in the Cable area where his family owns and operates a resort on Lake Owen.
