RACINE – Today, the Randy Bryce campaign turned their nomination papers with the maximum amount of 2,000 signatures needed to qualify for the ballot in November.

“Since April 15, our 200+ county captains partnered with over 100 new volunteers to go from neighborhood to neighborhood circulating nomination papers for Randy Bryce,” said Communications Director Julia Savel. “Our field program has canvassed the district, collecting well over the 2,000 signature limit. You can feel the support for Randy across the district and voters are excited about Randy’s commitment to building a bigger table. We are looking forward to being on the ballot in November.”
