1st CD Dem Randy Bryce's campaign says he's raised $1.2 million over the second quarter of the year.

The ironworker also has "well over" $2 million in cash on hand as he heads into the Aug. 14 primary, according to a release from his campaign today.

Bryce's campaign said he's now raised more than $6 million, which it said is already the best fundraising haul for any Dem running for the 1st CD in the past 20 years.

Still, Bryce's fundraising pace slowed from the first three months of the year, when he reported nearly $2.2 million in contributions and finished the period with almost $2.3 million in the bank.
