MILWAUKEE — Today, U.S Congresswoman Gwen Moore announced her support for Wisconsin Supreme Court candidate Rebecca Dallet.

“I am delighted to endorse Judge Dallet for the Wisconsin Supreme Court,” said Congresswoman Gwen Moore. “Through her more than two decades in Wisconsin courtrooms, including 10 years as a judge in Milwaukee County, Judge Rebecca Dallet understands the unique challenges this community faces and will always reflect the principles of independence, fairness, and equality under the law. With right-wing dark money special interests already spending huge sums to put a Scott Walker rubber stamp on Wisconsin’s highest court to radically transform Wisconsin values, we must join together to support Judge Dallet and her candidacy of independence and equality.”

In response to Congresswoman Gwen Moore’s endorsement, Judge Rebecca Dallet said, “Congresswoman Moore is a leader in Milwaukee and I am so proud she has endorsed my candidacy for Wisconsin Supreme Court. I will return independence and balance to an increasingly divided and broken Supreme Court that has pushed a political agenda and looked out for special interests instead of regular Wisconsinites. It’s time to focus on upholding the constitution and our laws instead of doing the bidding of the big-money special interests.”

Elected in 2008 and re-elected in 2014, Judge Rebecca Dallet currently serves on the Milwaukee County Circuit Court. She has spent the past 23 years working in Wisconsin courtrooms – first as a prosecutor and now as judge presiding over more than 10,000 cases and more than 230 jury trials in a wide range of areas from domestic violence and misdemeanor court, to homicide and drug court, and civil and small claims court. Judge Dallet is running to protect our Wisconsin values during a time when our most basic rights are under attack. She lives in Whitefish Bay with her husband, Brad, and their three teenage daughters.
