

Dallet's first TV ad features Trump, promise to protect 'our' rights, values

Posted on Tuesday, Jan 30, 2018

Milwaukee Judge Rebecca Dallet's first TV ad of the Supreme Court races opens with footage of President Trump and a pledge that she'll protect our rights and values.

She's the first of the three candidates to go up on TV.

The spot shows footage of Trump at a rally yelling, "Get the hell out of here." The narrator says over the footage, "He's attacked our civil rights and our values. She'll protect them."

Dallet then says she's been a prosecutor and judge for more than 20 years, "delivering justice to victims and their families in some of the toughest cases of rape and child abuse."

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

She said her mom raised her to look out for others and that's how "we're raising our daughters, too."

"And you have my word. I'll keep protecting our rights and defending our values," Dallet said.

The narrator closes the spot, "Rebecca Dallet on the ballot for Supreme Court."

See details of the buy in Tuesday's PM Update.