In response to President Trump nominating Brett Kavanaugh to the United States Supreme Court, DCCC Spokesman Evan Lukaske issued the following statement calling on Bryan Steil to state his position on whether Roe v. Wade should be overturned and the constitutionality of protections for people with pre-existing conditions like asthma, cancer and diabetes:

“A Supreme Court that ignores the will of the people and only represents the wealthy and largest corporations is a threat to all hardworking men, women and children. Steil must immediately clarify his positions on overturning Roe v. Wade and a woman’s right to choose, and whether protections for people with pre-existing conditions like cancer, asthma and diabetes are constitutional.

“Voters deserve to know where Steil stands on these critical, life-altering issues that impact their health and livelihoods, and a failure to speak out is further evidence that Steil stands with the Republican Party over what is right for his constituents.”
