Posted on Wednesday, Nov 7, 2018

Incumbent Republican Rep. Glenn Grothman has won the race for the 6th CD in northeastern Wisconsin, the Associated Press has determined.

Per unofficial results, Grothman won the race against Democrat Dan Kohl with 56 percent of the vote, compared to Kohl's 44 percent. Seventy-nine percent of precincts are reporting.

The result follows polling in the district showing the two candidates in a close race as well as independent expenditures logged that favored Kohl.

Grothman, who previously served in the state Senate and Assembly, has served in Congress since 2015.
