

Kaul campaign: Schimel let 3M go without a fine—and now it's under investigation for polluting again

Posted on Monday, Aug 20, 2018

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

Josh Kaul won't give polluters a pass

MADISON – In the wake of news that Wisconsin's Department of Natural Resources is investigating more air pollution from 3M, Josh Kaul called out Brad Schimel's soft-on-pollution approach.

“In 2016, Brad Schimel let 3M off the hook without payment of a fine, and now it's under investigation again,” Kaul said. “We need an attorney general who is serious about holding polluters accountable when they break the law.”

“From waiting until an election year to finally take some action to address the increased delays in testing at the state crime labs, to his failure to finish awarding school-safety grants before the start of the school year, Brad Schimel's actions too often seem to be timed for political expediency. Hopefully, now that it's an election year, Schimel will finally take real action to protect clean air and clean water,” Kaul said.

Josh Kaul served as a federal prosecutor in Baltimore, one of America's most violent cities. There, Kaul prosecuted murderers, gang members, and drug traffickers, taking dangerous criminals off the street and making communities more secure. He grew up in Oshkosh and Fond du Lac in a family of law enforcement professionals and teachers. He is running for Attorney General in 2018.

For more information, please visit: www.joshkaul.org