GRAFTON, Wis. — On Wednesday former Vice President Joe Biden endorsed Dan Kohl for Congress in Wisconsin's 6th District.

"Dan Kohl is the independent voice we need in Congress to create an economy that works for every Wisconsin family and ensure every American has access to quality and affordable health care," said Vice President Biden. "Dan has been a tireless advocate for the Children's Health Insurance Program and helped expand mental health care for veterans who struggle with post-traumatic stress and depression. He understands that our country needs new leaders in Washington who will look out for all Americans, not just wealthy campaign donors and special interest groups. I am confident that 6th District voters will see that Dan is the right choice for Wisconsin when they head to the polls in November."

"I am honored to have the support of Vice President Biden," said non-profit and business leader Dan Kohl. "Throughout his decades of service to our country, Vice President Biden never lost sight of making sure our government works for the American people — not special interests or the personal aspirations of politicians. I am thrilled to have him on our side as we fight to take back this seat for working families across Wisconsin's 6th District."
