

Kohl to Republicans: 'Bring it on'

Posted on Friday, Jun 1, 2018

Dem Dan Kohl, who is running against GOP U.S. Rep. Glenn Grothman, challenged the incumbent and his Republican allies to “bring it on” if they have a problem with him advocating for issues such as helping vets find work and providing health care to children.

Kohl, the nephew of former U.S. Sen. Herb Kohl, D-Milwaukee, said Grothman and Republicans are nervous because they know November will be a referendum on issues such as lowering health care costs and allowing older Americans to buy into Medicare.

“He sees what’s coming in November and so do Republicans,” Kohl said, adding the Koch brothers are singling out his race by backing Grothman, R-Glenbeulah.

This post is part of our coverage of the 2018 state Dem convention in Oshkosh. See the rest of our coverage here: <https://www.wispolitics.com/category/dem-convos/>

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.