“Paul Ryan is a good man and a great American. Our state and our nation owe him a tremendous debt of gratitude for twenty years of bold, visionary leadership. And I am personally deeply appreciative of the numerous kindnesses he has shown me and my family through many years together on bus tours and at caucuses and conventions. I also especially applaud Paul’s work to ensure America’s prosperity reaches our neighbors in low-income communities, people who have an equal right to experience the power of a paycheck and the dignity of work. Though we are sad to lose his leadership in Washington, we’re glad we’ll see more of our friend here in Wisconsin in the days ahead. I’m confident God’s not done with Paul Ryan’s career or the America which he loves and serves.”
