Milwaukee - Felesia Martin, candidate for Milwaukee County Board of Supervisors District 7, announces the endorsement of her campaign by the Milwaukee Teachers Education Association (MTEA).

“As a former student of MPS, I fully support public school teachers, assistants, administration and support staff. While the state of Wisconsin has chosen policies which demonize our hard-working teachers, I believe the best path forward includes involving the experience of MTEA. I will look to MTEA as a partner in understanding public education issues and how I can help increase positive educational outcomes in Milwaukee County” commented Felesia in regards to the endorsement.

Felesia has spent her career working for the Medical College of Wisconsin, one of Milwaukee County’s greatest institutions. She was raised in Milwaukee, and lives in the Sherman Park neighborhood with her husband. She has endorsements ranging from allies in the labor movement, to community leaders such as Congresswoman Gwen Moore, State Senator Lena Taylor, and Milwaukee Alderman Chevy Johnson.

The general election is on Tuesday, April 3, 2018.
