Brookfield, Wis. — The National Right to Life Committee has endorsed nurse Leah Vukmir in her race for the U.S. Senate in Wisconsin.

“As a nurse, I’ve made it my mission to save lives,” Leah said. “I’m proud to be 100% pro-life and to have the endorsement of the National Right to Life Committee. Together, we can work to protect America’s most vulnerable — the unborn. Sadly, Senator Baldwin has voted for radical policies Wisconsinites think are barbaric, like allowing partial-birth abortions where fully developed babies are ripped from their mothers’ wombs. It’s time for us to have a senator who will protect Wisconsin’s voiceless over the pro-abortion special interests who have given Baldwin more than $750,000.”

In the TMJ4/WUWM debate last week, Senator Baldwin struggled to defend her support for late-term and partial birth abortions. You can watch the entire segment here.
