Pewaukee – Today Adam Neylon issued the following statement about his announcement to run for re-election of Wisconsin’s 98th Assembly District:

“I am dedicating my re-election bid to serving the incredible citizens of Pewaukee, Sussex and Waukesha, to my family and newly born son. I was humbled to fight for Wisconsin as it reached historic funding levels in education, becoming the first state to pass major regulatory reform legislation like the REINS Act, all while cutting taxes and simplifying the tax code.

“I committed my Chairmanship of the Jobs & Economy Committee to helping Wisconsin reach record low unemployment, and I will continue my work to improve Wisconsin.”
