Madison – Last week, Representative Mary Felzkowski (R-Irma) received the 'Building Wisconsin' Award from the Associated Builders and Contractors for her dedication to supporting free enterprise throughout the past legislative session.

"I am incredibly honored to have received this award and am immensely proud of all that we have achieved this session. From lifting burdensome regulations to making it easier for small businesses and independent contractors to compete, we've made Wisconsin a better place for builders.

Associated Builders and Contractors is a national trade association representing contractors, manufacturers and construction-related professionals. The Wisconsin chapter of the organization is the largest in the nation with over 800 members.

"I look forward to continuing to partner with ABC to advance their ideals and work together to enhance our state's business environment, promoting good paying jobs in the 35th Assembly District, and making Wisconsin an even better place to work."
