

Senate GOP elects upcoming session's leadership

Posted on Thursday, Nov 8, 2018

Senate Republicans today elected their leadership for the upcoming session, keeping Majority Leader Scott Fitzgerald, of Juneau, and President Roger Roth, of Appleton, in their posts.

The caucus elected Sen. Dan Feyen, of Fond du Lac, as assistant majority leader. He replaces former Assistant Majority Leader Leah Vukmir, of Brookfield, who left her seat to run for U.S. Senate.

Members also voted to keep Sen. Howard Marklein, of Spring Green, as the chamber's president pro-tempore.

Meanwhile, Sen. Van Wanggaard, of Racine, was re-elected as caucus president and Sen. Patrick Testin, of Stevens Point, as vice caucus chair.

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.