Tom Sieber the Democratic challenger in the 88th Assembly District announced today the campaign raised almost $36,000 in just over two months since announcing his candidacy. The campaign had 197 donors. All out of state donations were made by friends and family of Tom.

The Sieber campaign's early fundraising shows they will have the resources to win this race. Sieber attributed the strong financial start to listening to the voters of the 88th, "People are talking about the need to return the government to the people. They are sick of the partisan bickering that has led to their hard earned taxpayer dollars being thrown to special interests and foreign corporations. There is a strong demand by the voters to properly fund education and to ensure that sick people can afford to see a doctor and pay for necessary treatments."

Tom is a husband, father of three daughters, small business owner and Brown County Supervisor.
