

SPJ Madison: Happy Hour with Science Writer Justin Gillis

Posted on Monday, Apr 16, 2018

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

Monday, April 23 at Genna's

MADISON — The Madison chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists is hosting a happy hour event with leading climate writer and former New York Times reporter Justin Gillis on Monday, April 23.

Gillis is currently working on a book about solving global warming, and spent nearly a decade at The New York Times covering environmental science, with a special focus on climate change. He is now a contributing opinion writer for the newspaper.

All area journalists and journalism supporters are encouraged to attend the free event, which will be held at Genna's, 105 W Main St. in Madison, from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

Gillis is in Madison as part of UW-Madison's Science Writer in Residence program. He'll also be the keynote speaker at the upcoming Center for Journalism Ethics' April 27 conference. More details are available here: <https://ethics.journalism.wisc.edu/2018conference/>