'About time we made Washington do an honest day's work'

Brookfield, Wis. — U.S. Senate candidate Leah Vukmir released her second ad for her campaign Monday, highlighting her plans to stand with President Trump to cut wasteful spending, build the wall and the drain the swamp.

Since airing her first spot for television, Leah has taken the lead for the primary in the Marquette University Law Poll, and her campaign continues to show momentum going into the Aug. 14 primary.

"I'm Leah Vukmir. I worked with Scott Walker to take on the big labor bosses. We made these guys work for the taxpayers, not the other way around.

"Now I'm running for U.S. Senate to stand with President Trump. We'll cut wasteful spending, build the wall, and finally drain the swamp.

"It's about time we made Washington do an honest day's work.

"I'm Leah Vukmir, and I approve this message."
