Brookfield, Wis. – After ultra-liberal Senator Tammy Baldwin was endorsed by former President Obama on Monday, the Leah for Senate campaign released the following statement:

“It’s no surprise that President Obama would endorse Tammy Baldwin after she sat on a report about veterans being overprescribed opioids at the Tomah VA, shielding his administration from criticism,” said campaign manager Jess Ward. “The swamp will protect the swamp, and it’s time to send a military mom and nurse who will actually look out for our veterans to DC.”
