

Vukmir's latest TV ad calls Baldwin so radical on health care takes 'breath away'

Posted on Tuesday, Oct 16, 2018

GOP U.S. Senate candidate Leah Vukmir released a new TV ad today featuring a woman who calls U.S. Sen. Tammy Baldwin, D-Madison, so radical on health it "it literally takes my breath away."

The spot features a woman identified as Theresa, of Madison, who says it's "hard to breathe, and it's terrifying" when you have a rare lung disease.

Theresa adds she "wouldn't be here without my insurance," but charges Baldwin wants to eliminate private health insurance and have the "government to choose when I can see my doctor and what care I receive."

She closes the spot, "Senator Baldwin is so radical, it literally takes my breath away."

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

Vukmir's campaign didn't immediately provide any details on where the ad is running.