[Madison, Wis.] – Joined by over 80 veterans, supporters and friends, Scott Walker rode across the state to visit hard-working families and small businesses to show how Wisconsin is working and highlight his agenda to help Wisconsin win the 21st century.

With more people working than ever before, unemployment that hit a record low this year, and business investment returning to the state, Wisconsin's comeback is strong. From Appleton to Eau Claire and Onalaska to Mineral Point, Scott Walker's annual motorcycle ride showed firsthand the positive changes Wisconsin's comeback is making to towns and local communities.
