Wisconsin Historical Society Awarded Historic Preservation Grant to City of Monona

Monona, Wis. – The Wisconsin Historical Society has awarded the City of Monona with a $24,000 historic preservation grant to conduct an intensive survey of historic properties in the city. These Certified Local Government subgrants are part of a federal program administered by the Wisconsin Historical Society.

“The Society’s historic preservation program supports the work of local governments to educate their citizens about their past, identify and document their historic properties, assist in their preservation and provide economic assistance through grants and historic tax credits,” said Jim Draeger, State Historic Preservation Officer at the Wisconsin Historical Society.

These funds will be used to conduct an intensive survey of historic properties in the Monona community to support the city’s continuing historic preservation efforts. The project will identify and document important properties that may benefit from economic and technical assistance provided through the Society’s historic preservation program. The information from the survey will aid property owners, promote economic development and reinvestment, support historic tourism and provide the city with information to assist future planning for the preservation of these irreplaceable resources.

“We’re very happy to have been awarded a historic preservation grant to fund a survey of historic properties in the city,” said Mary O’Connor, Mayor of the City of Monona. “The knowledge gained will provide a base of essential information for our Landmarks Commission to use in its efforts to preserve Monona’s historic properties.”

The Society’s historic preservation program also helps preserve places of enduring value by administering the state and national register programs and providing an array of technical assistance. Only units of government with approved historic preservation programs are eligible for these subgrants.
