March 14, 2018 – Milwaukee, WI – The Wisconsin Institute for Law & Liberty (WILL) hired Attorney Anthony LoCoco as its newest Associate Counsel. Anthony previously was an attorney at Foley & Lardner in Milwaukee.

LoCoco is a graduate of the University of Dallas, where he earned a B.A. in economics. He earned his J.D. from Harvard Law School in 2015. While at Harvard, LoCoco worked for the Carr Center for Human Rights Policy, Milwaukee County Circuit Court Judge Kevin Martens, and the law firm Sidney Austin.

Upon graduation from Harvard, LoCoco served as a law clerk on the Supreme Court of Wisconsin for Justice Annette Ziegler from 2015 to 2017.

“We are thrilled to welcome Anthony to WILL,” said WILL President and General Counsel Rick Esenberg. “He joins a growing litigation team that will continue to fight on the frontlines for limited government, free speech, economic liberty, federalism, transparency, and school choice.”

“It’s an honor to join one of the nation’s premier law and policy centers,” said Anthony LoCoco. “I’m excited to join the team and contribute to the mission of WILL.”

LoCoco is a Wisconsin native and resides in Brookfield with his wife and daughter.
