[Madison, WI] — In the final debate in the 1st Congressional District, Bryan Steil showed why he is the only candidate that will take Wisconsin style solutions to Washington. His opponent, Randy Bryce is a liberal extremist whose views align closer with Hollywood than they do with hard-working Wisconsin families. Bryce has repeatedly shown that he's unfit to serve in Congress. Following tonight's debate, the Republican Party of Wisconsin released the following statement from Executive Director Mark Morgan:

"Bryan Steil will fight for Wisconsin families and take our Wisconsin style solutions to Washington. He'll keep taxes low, fight to cut burdensome regulations, and will help build a top workforce in Wisconsin. His opponent, Randy Bryce, is an extremist with a long history of poor judgement and reckless ideas. On top of his nine arrests and his failure to pay child support while he bought twitter followers, Randy also supports a government takeover of healthcare and has referred to police officers as terrorists. Randy Bryce is too extreme for Wisconsin and unfit to serve."
