

WisOpinion Poll: Should state Supreme Court candidates discuss their political views?

Posted on Tuesday, Jan 9, 2018

Middleton attorney Tim Burns, Milwaukee Judge Rebecca Dallet and Sauk County Judge Michael Screnock have all filed nomination papers to run for state Supreme Court, setting up a three-way primary.

An issue in this year's election is whether it is appropriate for candidates to go beyond describing their judicial philosophies and also discuss their personal political views.

Do you believe it is appropriate for state Supreme Court candidates to openly discuss their personal political views?

Share your opinions in other WisOpinion polls and view results: <https://polco.us/wispolitics>

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.