(Hudson, WI) – Combat Veterans for Congress endorsed Jason Church to represent Wisconsin’s 7th Congressional District in the U.S. House of Representatives. Combat Veterans for Congress endorses conservative veterans who fought on the front lines in defense of our country.

“I am grateful for the support of Combat Veterans for Congress,” said Jason Church. “My father, my grandfather, and my uncle all served in the military, and I was taught to value service to our country. Even though I can’t fight for my country in combat, I can still defend the American people in Washington. We need conservative leaders who will protect our constitutional rights, the sanctity of life, and our borders. We especially need leaders in Congress who will stand with President Trump against the Democrats’ impeachment proceedings. I will support the President and work with him on behalf of the people of Wisconsin’s 7th Congressional District.”

This endorsement follows those from veterans in Congress who believe we need more veterans and leaders like Jason in Congress – Senator Tom Cotton, Senator Joni Ernst, Congressman Dan Crenshaw, and Congressman Brian Mast.
