(Hudson, WI) – SEAL PAC, or Supporting Electing American Leaders Political Action Committee, today endorsed Jason Church to represent Wisconsin's 7th Congressional District in the U.S. Congress. The organization supports conservative veterans who are seeking to continue their service to our country in Congress.

"Our combat veterans answered the call to fight America's enemies," said SEAL PAC Chairman Robert J. O'Neill. "That is invaluable experience for fighting to drain the swamp in Washington, D.C. Jason Church will take his passion for serving to Congress to defend conservative values on behalf of the people of Northern Wisconsin.

"I am grateful for SEAL PAC's endorsement," said Jason Church. "Veterans across the country are supporting my campaign because they know that the training I received in the military has prepared me to go to battle once again for the American people. Congress needs more veterans because we understand our national security threats and the reforms that are needed at the VA. I will work to take care of our veterans, support President Trump, and defend conservatism on behalf of Wisconsin's Seventh Congressional District."
