Madison, Wis. — U.S. Congressional Candidate Tom Tiffany submitted the maximum number of signatures to the Wisconsin Elections Commission on Monday, ensuring his name will be on the election for the February 18 primary election.

“Our team is so thankful for the many grassroots supporters across Northern and Western Wisconsin who helped put my name on the ballot,” Tiffany said. “This campaign is about sending their voices to DC. From Wausau to Superior, Hudson to Antigo, voters know they can count on a proven conservative like me to protect our Wisconsin way of life from radicals like Bernie Sanders and Elizabeth Warren who want to turn toward socialism.”

While only 1,000 signatures are required to receive ballot access, Tiffany delivered 2,000 signatures from voters in the 7th Congressional District, the maximum number allowed.
