La Crosse – Today, the president announced that a compromise to reopen the government has been met. U.S. Rep. Ron Kind released the following statement:

“Reopening the government is the right first step to moving forward from this embarrassing shutdown, but this short-term compromise bill cannot lead to another shutdown. The federal government and its workers should never be used by anyone as hostages for a policy goal.

Now it’s time to get in the same room and work together to find commonsense, bipartisan solutions that effectively fix our broken immigration system.”
