Washington, D.C. – Every year, members of Congress have the distinct privilege of helping to choose the next leaders of our great nation's armed forces. Today, Congresswoman Gwen Moore (WI-04) announced the 2019 service academy nominees from Wisconsin's 4th congressional district.

"The young men and women who I have nominated to attend our nation's military service academies exemplify hard-work, dedication, and an unwavering commitment to protecting and serving the citizens of the United States. This year's process was highly competitive, and I can say with certainty that these exceptional students will make our district and country proud.

"The United States Air Force Academy, the United States Naval Academy, the United States Military Academy, and the United States Merchant Marine Academy provide our nation's youth with world class military training and academic degrees. Graduating from these schools is no easy task, but these young women and men from the 4th Congressional District are up to the challenge. I am proud to represent them in congress, and I look forward to watching them achieve incredible feats in the coming years."
