Washington, D.C. Congressman Jim Sensenbrenner (WI-05) offered the following statement after President Trump delivered his second State of the Union address:

“Just over a month ago, Congress and the President found a way to come together and pass historic, bipartisan criminal justice reform the culmination of an effort I was proud to lead for over a decade. Together, we must build upon that success and choose to push forward through partisan gridlock, reject unprincipled resistance, and restore civility and cooperation. The last two years were filled with many successes for the American people, and we must charge ahead to ensure security, restore liberty, and increase opportunity for all. “
