WASHINGTON, D.C.—Today, Bryan Steil released a statement on the budget agreement.

“Our budget process is broken and Washington has a spending problem. Congress cannot continue to spend without a plan to pay for it. Our nation is $22 trillion in debt. Rather than promoting fiscal responsibility and providing a plan towards a balanced budget, this bill adds $300 billion to the debt. I continue to work with my colleagues to improve our budget process and bring fiscal responsibility back to Congress.”
