Statement from Eric Borgerding, WHA President/CEO:

Wisconsin is known for its consistently nation-leading quality health care, due in large measure to the hospitals, health systems and the dedicated care givers and health care professionals in this state. We have accomplished much, and have much more to do. We look forward to meeting with Secretary-Designate Palm, the Evers Administration and the Legislature to preserve Wisconsin's top quality care, sustain the health insurance coverage gains we have made over the past four years, and assure that those who gain coverage also have access to care."
