MADISON, Wis. – The latest episode of “WisBusiness.com: The Show” features an interview with Sean Roberts, director of state government affairs for code.org, a national group working in states such as Wisconsin to build the supply of young adults who are computer literate and able to write software code.

Also, Liz Schrum presents Tech Metrics, which chart key indicators and events in the Wisconsin economy. This episode: Act 255 state tax credits over time.

In a separate commentary, Tech Council President Tom Still talks about the Wisconsin Tech Summit, a matchmaking event between 20 major companies and emerging firms in Wisconsin. It will be held March 18 at Lambeau Field; a company application deadline is nearing.
