MILWAUKEE—Tonight, a new video released at the Democratic National Convention showcased Joe Biden's and Dr. Biden's commitment to our men and women in uniform—because for the Bidens, this is personal. They know, from experience, that it's not just the servicemember who serves, but the entire family.

In the video, the Cole family opens up about the stress and uncertainty they faced before, during, and after DeOnte Cole was deployed as a U.S. Marine —and how they know the Biden family would be there for them. That's because Dr. Biden made fighting for our military families a top priority during the Obama-Biden administration, and Joe Biden has consistently stood up for military families throughout his career. As President and First Lady, the Bidens will double-down on our national commitment to military families and veterans.
