

Evers rejects Trump administration demand schools be open for in-person instruction

Posted on Wednesday, Jul 8, 2020

Today's Midday podcast covers Gov. Tony Evers rejecting demands from the Trump administration that schools be reopened this fall for in-person instruction, countering that the decision should be made at the local level.