

Nearly 50K people could be in line next week when Wisconsin's first batch of vaccines is expected to arrive

Posted on Tuesday, Dec 8, 2020

Today's Midday podcast covers Wisconsin's first shipments of COVID-19 vaccine, expected as early as Dec. 14, that will vaccinate 49,725 people in the first group of high-risk Wisconsinites: health care workers and those at long-term care facilities.